

WILSON TAKES UP HARDING CLAIM WITH FRANCE

La Crescent Farmers Ask La Crosse
Hunters' Aid In Wiping Out Wolves

HOUSTON County farmers in the neighborhood of La Crescent, today sent out an S. O. S. to La Crosse, and other hunters to have their stock from the ravages of the La Crescent wolf-pack.

Although rabbits and other small game is plentiful in the bluffs and bays, and the wolves are fat and sleek, they have become so bold that attacks on sheep and cattle in pasture are of almost nightly occurrence. Ordinarily, wolves do not attack animals near houses except in the dead of winter when they are driven to desperation by hunger. But the La Crescent pack has increased so rapidly, and been practically immune from punishment for so long that they are forgetting their usual caution.

As an example, the Miller brothers, farmers two and a half miles south of La Crescent on the Brownsville road, related to La Crosse hunters yesterday how a pack of some twenty wolves attacked their herd of cattle while three armed hunters stood in the midst of the stock. Unable to shoot for fear of hurting the cattle, the hunters finally drove off the lupine raiders with shouts and noise, but the wolves escaped scot-free. It was regarded as startling proof of the boldness of the pack that they should have kept up their efforts to pull down a calf after the men appeared.

Miller brothers yesterday missed a calf, and found its half-devoured carcass lying near their farm house. It was the second calf to be killed by wolves within a few days. Farmers declare that the pack's howling can be heard almost every night, particularly in rainy or foggy weather when the animals seem to be more active.

The suggestion was made yesterday that all hunters in the neighborhood of La Crescent, with the assistance of any La Crosse hunters who wish to join, get together some day shortly and make a big drive for the purpose of exterminating the pack. The farmers believe that if several hundred hunters form a cordon around the wolves' usual hunting grounds and close in it will be possible to kill at least the greater part of the pack.

The La Crescent Wolf Club, formed last year for the purpose of hunting the wolves with dogs, is planning an active campaign with its bounds. Frank Mader, of La Crosse, who spends a good deal of leisure time hunting around La Crescent, has also sent away for a wolf hound, and the Miller brothers are planning to get another.

With a bounty of $10 on wolf scalps, it is believed that hunting the wolf-pack will have financial as well as sporting inducements. It is also pointed out that the best time to get after the pack is in the immediate future before snow makes hunting difficult. The mating season of the wolves is approaching, and drastic steps must be taken now if a further increase of the pack is to be prevented for next year. Further, it is recalled that part of the pack crossed the river on the ice last winter after the freeze-up and La Crescent farmers say that La Crosse county should be interested as a matter of self-protection in wiping out the pack before winter makes it possible for them to extend their range across the Mississippi.

Several of the La Crescent wolves were killed last year. They are apparently a breed somewhere between the true timber wolf and the coyote, being colored like the wolf but not so large and heavy. They first appeared in numbers in the La Crescent bluffs about three years ago, the theory being that they were driven down from the northern woods by forest fires which were exceptionally severe in upper Minnesota that year.

Labor Leader Sees Speedy Settlement if Both Sides Can be Brought Together

BRITISH POUND DROPS IN VALUE ON FOREIGN MARKETS

Action of Rail and Transport Workers is Awaited With Anxiety

LONDON.—By The Associated Press.—One effect of the coal strike upon financial London has been the weakening of the pound sterling which has dropped to $2.44 on buying orders to cover actual and prospective coal shipments from United States to Europe. The effect has already been seen on continental exchanges, all of which moved against Great Britain last week and which were again weaker Monday.

Persistent reports of efforts to settle the coal miners' strike partially relieved the spirit of anxious uncertainty.

Expects Settlement Soon

John Robert Clynes, one of the most moderate of the labor leaders, has expressed confidence in a settlement within a week, if both sides could be brought together to discuss calmly the controversy. He advocates as a basis of agreement the granting to the miners of half their demands, and the submission of the remainder to an impartial tribunal.

J. S. Thomas, general secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, also has made moderate statements, and both these men are relied upon to do their utmost to shorten the strike. Newspapers contrast the attitude of Clynes and Thomas with that of C. T. Cramp, president of the National Union of Railwaymen, who has given significant warning to members of that union of "the serious situation which will be created if the miners are defeated." They also call attention to an utterance by another prominent laborite, Edwin Bevin, secretary of the Dock Workers' union, who yesterday accused the government of having engineered the strike, and charged it with double dealing.

Await Decision of Rail Union

The transport workers and railwaymen were marking time today in the matter of deciding whether they would lend their support to the striking coal workers. They appeared inclined not to take precipitate action pending possible proposals upon which the government and the miners could negotiate.

The country awaited anxiously a report from the meeting of the council of transport workers, which includes more than twenty unions, covering the dockers, the business and tram workers, the commercial road transport men and the coal trimmers at the ports. The council, however, after a previous meeting adjourned until Tuesday without announcing its policy.

The newspapers are making much of the fact that while the strike is completely effective there are considerable sections of the miners who entered it half-heartedly and only because they were ordered so to do. The miners of the vital south Wales coal fields represent the belligerent section of the strikers.

Thousands Out of Work

With the shipping, steel and iron and other industries already hard hit, many thousands of men were out of work Monday in various sections, and it seems certain by the end of the week that the total will be many scores of thousands unemployed.

The general public has begun to feel the effect of restrictions on coal supplies. The people awoke Monday to find themselves faced with sharp fall weather which demanded either fires or warmer clothing.

All available supplies of coal have been placed under government control.

Italy Has Reserve Coal

ROME.—Italy will not feel any effects from the British coal strike before the end of November, as the government has accumulated reserves which approximate 1,100,000 tons. Importation of British coal has been gradually decreasing, being less than 150,000 tons in September. Strenuous efforts are being made to increase importation of American and German coal.

SEBASTOPOL.—Crimea.—By The Associated Press.—Following the defeat of soviet forces by General Wrangel's army at Simenikovo, two soviet regiments stationed in Rhas-Koe, decided to surrender, according to an official report, because they were without food, shoes and clothing.

Bolshevik authorities are reported no longer concealing the fact that their army is dissolving and that a winter campaign is impossible.

Twenty-five hundred civil prisoners were massacred upon orders from five different commissions during the last days of the occupation of Berdiansk, on the sea of Azov, according to advices. It is said that to be arrested was tantamount to a death sentence, either by starvation, disease or the pistol. Prisoners are reported to have become madhouses.

Upon leaving, the bolsheviks carried off all valuables.

Ukrainians Fight Reds

WARSAW.—By The Associated Press.—Actual fighting having ceased on the northern Russian front, attention has been shifted to Ukraine, where the Ukrainians are carrying on the war for the purpose of ridding their country of the bolsheviks.

The Ukrainian army will fight with the Wrangel forces. Plans are being made for the two armies to join soon, and the Ukrainians are gradually working their way to the southeast, where General Wrangel's anti-bolshevik forces are in conflict with soviet armies.

General Budeag, who was reported wounded before resigning as commander of bolshevik cavalry, is said to have established headquarters at Minnia, southwest of Kiev, where he is organizing insurgent detachments in the interests of General Wrangel.

According to information received at the headquarters of the Ukrainian mission here, the Ukrainian soviet government was transferred from Kiev to Kharkov some days ago.

OLD-TIME RALLY

HERE TOMORROW

Democratic Nominee Accom-

When He Invades La Crosse

ADDRESS TO BE GIVEN AT THE YEOMEN HALL

U. S. Treasurer Burke also to Speak; Talks Start at Bangor

LA CROSSE will see a real, old-time political rally tomorrow night when Colonel R. B. McCoy of Sparta, democratic nominee for governor, comes to town. It will be something like the days of two-quart tile hats, red fire and torchlight, the three requisites necessary to a parade that would stop the cars and wake up the town.

For Colonel McCoy is coming here with the West Salem band and the boys of the band have been tuning up for a week, getting the right pitch that is calculated to blow the whole village of La Crosse into Yeoman hall where the McCoy meeting is to be held.

The colonel arrives at Bangor at 10 a. m. tomorrow. Among others who will greet him will be a La Crosse committee, headed by John F. Doherty. After his talk at Bangor, Colonel McCoy will go to West Salem, where a chicken dinner will be served.

Also that is where the band gets into the firing line. The next stop will be at Minnoka, at 2 p. m. This will be followed by talks at Holmen and Onalaska.

On his arrival in La Crosse the colonel will be tendered an informal reception at the Stoddard hotel. Those on the committee to meet him are:

Mayor A. A. Bender, chairman; Dr. E. A. Gatterdam, John C. Burris, John E. Langdon, J. C. Houska, C. A. Keller, Paul W. Mahoney, C. F. Lang, Ole Elbertson, C. L. Lien, Dr. Gregory Eggen, Ed Ginsky, Joseph Delle, Joseph Boscher, A. H. Schubert, R. W. Davis, Frank Roth, B. A. Man, Joseph F. Bartl, S. P. Markle, J. H. Moran, Dr. Edward Bruns, Bert Jolivet, Fred Hosley, Mrs. Margaret Brown, Miss Rose Keefe, Mrs. Margaret Wolfe, Miss Mary Devine.

And the West Salem band will play on the way from the station to the hotel, in front of the hotel, thence to Yeomen hall and at the hall.

John Burke, United States treasurer, also will be a speaker at the Yeoman hall. He will speak on national issues. John F. Doherty will preside at the gathering.

WASHINGTON.—President

Wilson Monday directed inquiries to both the French government and Senator Harding as to the republican candidate's recent statement that he had been approached "informally" by a representative of France and asked to lead in the formation of an association of nations. The inquiry to Senator Harding, which was in the form of a letter, was made public at the white house. At first officials there refused to deny or confirm that an inquiry also had been sent to the French government, but subsequently Secretary Tumulty announced that such action had been taken.

Mr. Tumulty would not say what form the inquiry to the French government had taken nor whether it had been communicated through the embassy here or through the American ambassador at Paris.

Quoting St. Louis Speech
Louis, October 16, purporting to report the statement of Senator Harding, the president said:

"I need not point out to you the grave and extraordinary inference to be drawn from such a statement, namely, that the government of France, which is a member of the league of nations, approached a private citizen of a nation which is not a member of the league, with a request that the United States lead the way to a world fraternity."

France Always Honorable
Declaring that the state department "had always found the government of France most honorably mindful of its international obligations and punctiliously careful to observe all the proprieties of international intercourse," the president wrote that he hesitated "to draw the inference to which I have referred unless I am assured by you that you actually made the statement."

The Wilson Letter

The letter of the president to Senator Harding follows:

"Eighteenth of October, 1920.

MACSWINEY'S CONDITION

Mayor Says He'll Strike Again if Fed When Unconscious

CORK.—The first death among the hunger strikers in Cork jail occurred Sunday night.

Michael Fitzgerald died at 9:45 o'clock, having fasted sixty-eight days.

The condition of Fitzgerald and Joseph Murphy had become so grave that, with the consent of the other hunger strikers, the prison doctors were permitted to give Fitzgerald medical treatment. A Cork specialist also was called in.

Bad Effect on Others

The death of Fitzgerald, first of the seven hunger strikers in the Cork jail to succumb to the results of their fast of more than two months, probably will have an extremely bad effect upon the other hunger strikers, according to the jail doctors.

Joseph Murphy, Sean Hennessy and several other prisoners are so low the end is expected shortly.

Hennessy's father said he and other relatives, on learning Fitzgerald was dying, began reciting the Rosary, but that before they had finished Fitzgerald was dead.

Threaten to Feed MacSwiney

LONDON.—Terence MacSwiney, lord mayor of Cork, passed a good night at Brixton prison, according to the Irish self-determination league. It is said he slept well, but seems to have a slight cold.

In a later bulletin the League says a doctor has told MacSwiney that his condition is becoming more precarious. When he becomes unconscious, the doctor is said to have declared he would feel bound to do all he could to save the lord mayor's life, and would feed him as far as he could while he was unconscious. MacSwiney is quoted as saying that if any attempt was made to feed him under such conditions he would again commence his hunger strike as soon as revived.

"Perfectly Happy"

"In his present state of extreme weakness," the bulletin says, "the lord mayor naturally feels such action of feeding him would only prolong his torture. He wishes it known, however, that he is perfectly happy. It is his only attempt to feed him while unconscious, he will re-commence his hunger strike as soon as revived, and, whether life or death be his, he and his comrades in the outcome of the present struggle, they have won their battle and evacuation of Ireland by the enemy will follow very soon."

Judge Sanborn Dies Sunday At Madison Home

MADISON, Wis.—Following an illness of over six weeks Judge A. L. Sanborn, for fifteen years judge of the federal court for Western Wisconsin, died at his home here late Sunday. He was 70 years of age.

Judge Sanborn was born in Brasher Falls, New York, November 17, 1850. When 10 years of age he moved to Elkhorn where he entered the practice of law in 1875. He then moved to Madison and for a time was a partner of John L. Spooner. He has been a member of the law school faculty and of the state board of bar examiners, and was appointed to the federal bench by President Roosevelt in January, 1905. The appointment of a successor will be made by President Wilson.

MACON, Mo.—The community of College Mound, near here, is up in arms over the alleged punishment of pupils of the school for mutilating a picture of Senator Harding and for following it up by wearing Cox buttons. Jennie Hunt, the teacher, placed a picture of Harding on the walls, and it was torn down. At recess the pupils went home and returned wearing the Cox buttons. In an effort to learn who destroyed the Harding picture and the defiance shown by wearing the Cox buttons, she is said to have inflicted corporal punishment on six of her scholars, the eldest being sixteen, while Miss Hunt is only 18.

Charges have been filed against Miss Hunt, and the preliminary hearing is set for next Friday.

Political feeling is running high as the result of the episode.

Local Lawyers Express Regret
Over Passing of Judge Sanborn

Following announcement of the death of United States Judge A. L. Sanborn, who for 15 years has presided at terms of federal court held in La Crosse, and expressions of regret by local attorneys over his demise, speculation was rife in this city today over the probable successor of Judge Sanborn.

With the appointive power vested in President Wilson, local attorneys today took it for granted that a democrat would be appointed to the vacancy.

Among members of the local bar association today, the name of United States District Attorney A. C. Wolfe was prominently mentioned as one who might be urged for the place. John F. Doherty also was widely advanced as a possible candidate for the judicial appointment.

Other leading democratic lawyers in the western district of Wisconsin who were suggested today as probable candidates included William Prawley and Thomas Fleming of Eau Claire, James Murphy of Platteville, B. R. Gorgins and Dennis Conway of Grand Rapids, Thomas Connor of Chippewa Falls and Daniel Grady of Portage.

La Crosse lawyers united today in expressing regret over the death of Judge Sanborn, who was popular here, both in legal and social circles. An ardent golf devotee, Judge Sanborn always played at the Country club when here attending court.

"Judge Sanborn was a good lawyer and an able judge," said George H. Gordon, who served four years as United States district attorney under the Madison jurist. "He was fair and impartial in presiding during trials of cases, and he tempered justice with mercy in many of his rulings in criminal cases."

Alfred Harrison, clerk of the United States court here, who has known Judge Sanborn since the latter was register of deeds of Walworth county in 1882, said he was one of the best judges in the United States in the trial of patent cases.

Warrens Phone Case Heard

The Tomah Electric and Telephone company has obtained a rehearing on the recent order of the railroad commission, which required the company to re-establish the Warrens exchange.
The public hearing is set for October

ANNOUNCE CHANGES IN PERSONNEL OF EDUCATION BOARD

School Supervisors Leave State
Employ to Take up Work
Elsewhere

MADISON, Wis.—Several changes in the personnel of the state department of public instruction have occurred recently.

Dr. H. N. Goddard, for several years supervisor of high schools with special emphasis on agriculture, left the department to accept the superintendency of the city schools at Chippewa Falls.

Mr. W. E. Larson was compelled by ill health to give up his work as state supervisor of rural schools. He will continue to influence the rural work as principal of the Kewaunee-Door county training school.

Dr. W. W. Tolson, after four years of effective work in the development of the scientific study of school problems, resigned to assume the direction of the bureau of educational measurements in the city of Cleveland, Ohio.
After one year on the staff as supervisor of city grades, Miss Katherine McLaughlin left to accept the position as assistant professor of elementary kindergarten education in the University of California.

Mr. Joe T. Giles, who succeeded
Mr. Goddard, was for many years superintendent of the city schools at Richmond, one of the most progressive systems in that state. Mr. Giles resigned the superintendency to go overseas in the army educational service. Since his return from France, he has been engaged in graduate study in education at Columbia university and in the direction of research for the religious education survey department of the Inter-church movement.

George S. Dick, who will supervise the rural schools, has had a varied experience in rural education, which fits him for the rural supervision. Besides several years in country and city superintendencies, Mr. Dick was professor in the Iowa State teachers' college, with special emphasis on teacher training for rural education from 1906 to 1914. Following that he was president of the State Normal school at Kearney, Nebraska. After a year in the army educational service for disabled soldiers, Mr. Dick became superintendent of consolidated schools in the state of Iowa. Iowa has over 400 consolidated schools, each having grades 1 to 12, of which perhaps 200 were organized during Mr. Dick's service.

Mr. W. T. Osburn, who comes as supervisor of educational measurements, was head of the department of educational psychology and measurements in the state normal at Maryville, Mo., before going to Columbia university, where he received his doctor's degree in June, 1920. He was superintendent of the Carterville, Mo., schools previous to "engaging" in normal school work.

Miss Isabel Davidson is supervisor of city grades. For twelve years Miss Davidson was supervisor in Baltimore county, Maryland. She was one of the authors of the well known Baltimore county course of study for Elementary schools.

Carrying On
THE refining of petroleum has been revolutionized during the past ten years. Otherwise the present use of automotive machinery would be impossible.
In 1910 the average yield of gasoline from crude was 11 percent, while in 1919 this average had risen to about 26 percent, without in any way, impairing the quality of the product.
This tremendous advance was the direct result of applying the findings of scientific workers to the problems of industry, and in this work the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has taken a leading part.
The chemists and technical experts who have charge of the manufacturing activities of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) have been pioneers in the scientific refining of crude oil.
Their success is attested by the fact that the Company has been able to produce an ever-increasing volume of gasoline from the petroleum available.
The gasoline problem is important, but it can and will be solved by individual initiative, stimulated by fair and reasonable competition.
In the solving of this problem,
the interests of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), the manufacturer of automotive machinery and the public are one—greatly increased production is essential.
The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is straining every fibre of its highly specialized organization to increase the quantity of gasoline which may be taken from the crude—to maintain the high standard of quality it has always insisted on, and to do this without disturbing the output of other useful and necessary refined products of petroleum which it must supply.

HEAR MY PRAYER

HEAR MY PRAYER, O Lord, give ear to my supplication: In Thy faithfulness answer me, and in Thy righteousness and enter not into judgment with Thy servant: for in Thy sight shall no man living be justified.—Psalm 139: 1, 2.

ABOUT BOLTING

CHARGES of bolting are bandied back and forth between the two wings of the republican party in Wisconsin. Let's frankly say they are all more or less true, and then have a look at what it amounts to.

What is a bolt? We take it a bolt is an official thing. For officials and delegates to leave a convention in which they have been defeated, and set up a new ticket, is a bolt. For party office-holders, officials or leaders to reject the results of their party primary and set up new candidates is a bolt.

The first great bolt of the century was staged by the anti-La Follette wing in the historic gymnasium convention in 1904. The "trimming" they received at that time seems to have been a lesson, for since the institution of the primary they have never bolted to an independent candidate. On the other hand, the La Follette crowd has staged three such bolts: one in which C. H. Crownhart ran as an independent for attorney general, one in which Blaine ran as an independent against Governor Philipp, and the present case of Thompson against Lenroot. Thompson, however, is the only man who during the present century has appeared as an independent after being defeated in a primary. Morgan's case is unique; as a nominee he bolts one candidate on his ticket. Blaine's platform bolt is a not uncommon type. In his first campaign William Howard Taft, dissatisfied with the national republican platform, issued a supplemental or "personal" platform.

Often, and at the present moment, politicians refer to the swing of voters from the party in which commonly they vote, to the ticket or some candidate of another party, as bolting. Of course this is not a bolt. The very fact that platforms are drafted and speeches made to appeal to voters is recognition of the fact that party holds the private citizen only by virtue of its power to satisfy him. It is the swing of voters in tune with public sentiment which makes democratic government possible. Were this not true the majority party could misgovern and plunder for all time. It is the shifting vote which disciplines the politician and keeps government somewhere within the bounds of passable public service.

The bolt seldom occurs excepting in states or districts where one party has a tremendous normal majority, and even then it rarely succeeds. We know of no case in Wisconsin in which an independent candidate for a state or federal office won, or came anywhere near winning, for that matter. But there are cases in which the swing of factional leaders to the candidate of an opposing party has elected the latter. The La Follette progressives' turn to Husting beat McGovern for the United States senate. For instance, every republican vote which goes to McCoy means one full vote for the latter, while every republican vote that goes to Thompson means only half a vote for Reinsch. Blaine has by far a harder row to hoe than Lenroot.

THE SWITCHING CREW

PERHAPS the republican state central committee has nosed out a new angle of the state political situation. There will be a new party, La Follette expects to lead it. If he can pick up his Wisconsin organization, official and unofficial, and transfer it bodily to the new party, he will have a good working hub to his political wheel. Of course he couldn't consistently support the republican ticket and platform in this election, and immediately thereafter declare them of such poor stuff that he must lead a new party. That would indeed be inconsistent. How better his position if his new party move can be made but a continuation of his present campaign in principle, practice and largely in personnel. Nothing to explain or apologize for then! Still "hewing to the line." Perhaps the republican committee suspects it is something of this sort that the La Follette group wants it to help them get away with. Switching the G. O. P. train onto the Third party track may not be exactly the job which was entrusted to the Wisconsin republican state central committee.

ASSURANCE DOUBLY SURE

DECLARING that there is no dispute upon "the principle of a league of nations", but that only "the most effective method of applying that principle" is involved in the campaign, and that the country "can most effectively advance the cause of international co-operation, to promote peace by supporting Senator Harding", thirty-one prominent leaders in national affairs have pledged themselves to Harding in a public statement. Root, Hughes, Butler and William Allen White are among the number. Of course they are republicans for the most part, and the position of any of them, with the possible exception of White, could have been guessed by the average citizen.

The publication of the statement may be taken to indicate the fear that Governor Cox was making such headway with his Wilson league campaign as to endanger the election of Harding, and interest will attach to this viewpoint. But to many it may seem that its chief importance lies in another direction. Probably Harding will be a landslide winner, and the country may be glad to know that a group of republicans whose aggregate influence can be relied upon to control administration policy has thus pledged itself to "the principle of the league of nations" and to America's participation therein under republican administration. Harding may be "off agin, on agin, gone agin", but the republican party knows the moon isn't made of green cheese.

CONSISTENCY; IN PART

NO doubt it is the idea of consistency which induces John J. Blaine to reject Harding. He stood for certain things before Harding's nomination. He still stands for them. Probably he reasons that to accept Harding would be to accept Harding's views, and thus to surrender his own.

But is this stand consistent, after all? Either Cox or Harding will be elected. This is a "cinch". To whatever extent Blaine's refusal to support Harding contributes to Cox's chances Blaine is helping the Wilson league, opposition to which is the backbone of the La Follette-Thompson-Blaine program.

Who is it that is jubilant over Blaine's position? The democratic state central committee, of course. They know that Blaine, Morgan and Thompson are working for the Wilson party by every move they make in their internal "scrap".

King Alfonso has made a great hit among American debutantes at a Spanish shiver. They say he dances the Spanish shiver and shakes a mean epaulet.

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

If it is found that the law passed by the state legislature in 1899, which says officers must turn witness fees into the city treasury, has not been repealed or amended, La Crosse policemen may be required to pay into the city treasury all witness fees received by them since the enactment of the law. Information regarding the heretofore unknown statute has been placed in the hands of Attorney James Thompson who will make a thorough investigation.

A total eclipse of the moon is scheduled to take place November 16.

Maintaining that the maximum salary for teachers in the La Crosse city schools is ten dollars less per month than is paid in the average city of its size, Superintendent Louis P. Benezet will petition at the next meeting of the common council for an increase of ten per cent in city school appropriations.

Miss Lapham has resigned her position in the city schools and has returned to her home in Houston county where she is a candidate for superintendent of schools.

THE WRONG ENVELOPE

BY JESSIE DOUGLAS

Marjorie hid the wet glasses in a row, where they shone like so many iridescent soap bubbles. Mechanically she put the silver into the wire drawer next to them, then forgot that there was such a thing as dish washing.

"If I only had the courage," she said aloud.

She looked out through the low kitchen window to the morning breeze, past them to the blue line of hills and far off to a puff of cloud, feather-white on old Sugar Loaf.

"I'll do it!" she dared herself.

Then she came back to the dish washing and went on swiftly with quick, sure strokes until the white kitchen was shining with scrubbed table and swept floor and plates all in a row.

She whisked through the work this morning until at last with a sigh of relief she took up her bottle of ink, her stub pen and her very best writing paper. On the stone step at the kitchen door she sat down, safe from interruption.

For a long time she bit her pen and sought for her first sentence until, forgetful of her purpose, she sat there looking into a pleasant past, and a future that might be roseate.

She remembered the first time she had met Dickey. She was carrying the butter home from the Spring farm and he had come swiftly up behind her and asked if he might take it for her. She could still see the frank smile in his blue eyes and the way he tossed back his head to keep that one lock of hair out of his eyes.

Somehow they had found something to laugh at that very first minute and she had been delighted in his hearty chuckle. They had stopped over the spring after they had gone a mile and Dickey had scooped the clear icy water up in his curved palms for her to drink.

Could she ever forget the way his laughing blue eyes had looked down into her dark ones? Or how he had taken her hand in his big calloused one and led her across the slippery stones of the brook, for the short-cut home?

They had been friends ever since that morning—friends in varying stages of friendship. They had quarreled and made it up and always with that same frank comradeship that hinted no sentimental relation.

When she had first fallen in love with him Marjorie could not tell, but of a sudden she knew she was wretched when she was with him. The candid friendship of his eyes hurt, for she wanted something more, his hearty handclasp was like the grip of a brother.

"Why," Marjorie Dean asked herself, "hadn't Dickey Stevens fallen in love with her? Was it because he had seen her washing dishes with a pink and white checked apron tied round her waist? Was it because they were too good friends and he knew her in all the simple honest ways—too well?"

And now—the time had come for him to decide. For he was going away, going to work out his own salvation on a bit of government land in the west. Dickey would be gone for a year, and a year is a very long time in any one's life.

She could feel already his steady hand-clasp, and the way his blue eyes would look into hers and he would ask her to write! No, she couldn't endure it. Girls were told they must sit quietly at home and wait—it was the man's place.

"But I could help him so!" Marjorie told the little black kitten that had stolen around to sit on her skirts: "he'll be so lonely out there—we can laugh through the hardships, and I should love it all, cooking for him and mending and making a house pretty. Oh, he'll need me!"

Then she dipped her pen of a sudden into the ink and began to write. "Dear Mr. Wilmer (she began). Thank you for sending out that wonderful package of books. I've dipped into the novel already and I know I shall like the verse—but you mustn't do this sort of thing so often! I shall be glad to see you in August, when you come on your vacation, and as you say, this is the prettiest country in the world!"

"We'll talk over what you said in your letter when you come out—perhaps it can wait until then?"

"Your friend," "MARJORIE DEAN."

Marjorie read over the letter, drawing her velvet brows together and feeling her cheeks redder at what she was going to do. Deliberately she addressed two envelopes. Into the one bearing the name of "Mr. Richard Stevens" she put the wrong letter—the letter she had just written.

She sealed it up very quickly, and then before she could weaken she called Tommy, aged ten, and gave it to him to mail.

"Here's 10 cents for the trouble, Tommy," she offered.

Her brother, clasping it in his chubby paw, went whistling down the road.

Marjorie waited with a fluttering heart for the sound of the white gate to click. Dickey must come to say good-bye tonight. He must have gotten the letter by now. He would see she was precious in the eyes of someone else; it might make a difference—all the difference in the world. But he must never know what she had done purposely.

The gate snapped and Marjorie felt her hands grow icy cold and her heart pound maddeningly. Would he be able to see through the silly trick—would he give her up and know her for the girl who had thrown herself at his feet?

Her dark eyes quivered with tears and Dickey, flustered by the last with her face pressed close to his honey-suckle hedge, took her in his arms without a word.

Even as she felt his first kiss on her lips and his voice husky with feeling, "Marjorie, I want you to come with me!" she felt wickedly unhappy.

That wretched letter would stand between her and an easy conscience. She would always know that she had won him by a trick.

Yet she had promised brokenly to

MISS NORMAN WINS, TOO, TEACHERS BOARD SHIP FOR FRANCE TOGETHER

(Last day of story, "The Trip to France")

"Popular teacher weds." Jean saw the item in the Evening News and hurriedly glanced through it. "Miss Mabel Norman, who for three years has taught the sixth grade in the Kokomo public schools, was married last evening in Cincinnati to Mr. James R. Towne, of Philadelphia. The romance began when the bride and groom were students together in college."

"Mr. Towne is engaged this summer to take a party of tourists abroad. It is understood that, after a short honeymoon in this country, the couple will enjoy a longer honeymoon in Europe."

"Well, of all things!" exclaimed Jean and Dot together. "Miss Norman is going to get that trip to Europe after all!"

"Yes, and it serves you right, you mean thing," said Dot. "You thought you would help keep Miss Norman here and let Miss Bauer go, and now Miss Norman is gone forever."

Then, a week later, came a note, postmarked New York City. It was addressed to "Miss Dorothy McMillan." Dot recognized the handwriting and tore it open breathlessly.

"My Dear Dot: Won't you be surprised?" began Miss Norman. "To know that I am going to get a big trip to Europe, a much finer trip than even the very fine one you girls tried so hard to give me."

"You will be even more surprised to know that this evening I am to have dinner with Miss Bauer, who arrives in New York today. Jimmie (for I am now Mrs. James R. Towne) is in charge of the party, and Dorothy—what do you think—is the very party Miss Bauer is in. I'm so glad she won and not I."

"Be a good girl, and write me often. Goodbye."

"Oh, Jean, let's both write her a big long letter tonight!"

"All right, and I'm going to write one to Miss Bauer, too. I do like Miss Bauer. She's different than Miss Norman—but school won't be the same without her."

(The end)

"Wooden Leg Named Murphy." "Have you seen a fellow around here with a wooden leg by the name of Murphy?" "What's the name of his other leg?"

marry him, and had known a moment of wild ecstasy when he had told her of the new life that awaited them in the west before she made her way up the stairs to bed.

On the stairs she brushed against something that cracked, and, stooping, felt a crushed oblong, sticky with a melting molasses drop.

Before her own lamp she held it up and saw with amazement and a sense of relief that it was the musty letter bearing the name, Mr. Richard Stevens.

"Tommy forgot to mail it!" she breathed, and, kneeling down with the letter clasped in her hands, she smiled happily through her open window into the moonlight.

"Dickey loved her! He had never seen her silly trick to win his love! The future, iridescent as a dream, stretched before her a rosy, beckoning way."

Lived Happily After

One of the novellists, referring to his hero, says: His countenance fell, His voice broke, His heart sank, His hair rose, His eyes blazed, His words burned, His blood froze.

It appears, however, that he was able to pull himself together and marry the girl in the last chapter. —Boys' Life.

PRESSURE BOOSTER INSTALLED BY GAS COMPANY STARTED

Improvement in Service in the City is Expected by Manager Felton of Utility

"The Wisconsin-Minnesota Light and Power company has just received and installed at the Gas Works, a low pressure fan booster which will be used to boost the gas pressure as it leaves the Gas Holder and enters the Distribution System," said J. G. Felton, manager, today.

"There has been much delay in obtaining this booster but it was finally received on Tuesday, October 12th and the work of installation completed today. Barring unforeseen difficulties, this booster will be on the line and its operation will have the effect of increasing the pressure, especially at the time of the peak loads which occur at the dinner and supper periods.

"In addition to installing this low pressure booster, plans are now being made for laying a larger trunk main from the works to North La Crosse has greatly increased and the present 4" high pressure main and 6" low pressure main have been over-taxed. Definite plans regarding the laying of this main and the time of laying it will be announced later after it is known what effects the low pressure booster will have.

"The officials of the Company greatly regret that some of its patrons have been inconvenienced by having low pressure in certain areas and at certain times, but thorough study of the low pressure conditions was made early in the summer as a result of which the booster was ordered, but unfortunately delivery was delayed. The Company asks the cooperation of its patrons and desires that the office be immediately notified when pressure conditions or other conditions of service are not satisfactory."

SERBIA SENDS ARMY TO KLAGENFURT TO PROTECT SLOVENES

STATE BOARD PLANS "GOOD SCHOOL WEEK" NOVEMBER 14 TO 20

Focus Attention on Value of Education and Improvement of Schools

MADISON, Wis.—The State Department of Public Instruction is at work upon plans for the celebration of "Good School Week," November 14, 1920. Superintendent C. P. Cary believes that the observance of such a week by every community in the state cannot fail to result in additional interest in an effort for education.

It is expected that during that week meetings will be held in every school district in the state, which will focus attention upon the value of education and the improvement of local schools.

A new renewed interest in the schools which will express itself in improved facilities for all the children of every community should result from the week's observance. A committee is at work upon a pamphlet which will outline plans for the week and present data for the use of local speakers.

G. O. P. STIRRING UP RACE PREJUDICE IS ROOSEVELT CHARGE

Campaign Will Bear Evil Fruit Long After Election He Declares

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—Charges that republican campaign orators were appealing to racial hatreds and prejudices "which will continue to bear evil fruit long after the coming election," were made by Franklin D. Roosevelt, democratic vice presidential nominee, in a series of speeches today through southwestern Michigan.

Mr. Roosevelt arrived here today from Cincinnati and later left for Grand Haven and Muskegon, speaking there and at intermediate points. He returns here for a meeting tonight. "These republican speakers," Mr. Roosevelt said, "are deliberately inflaming the passions of their hearers, creating enmity toward those countries whose soldiers with our boys fought side by side in the late war.

"Wild charges are spread by republican orators who, raving about internationalism, would lead the ill-informed to believe that other countries are plotting against us. Foolish appeals are made for us to live our own lives and let Europe go hang; attend to your own affairs and not to meddle with those of other countries. Just as though it was possible for us or any other nation to lead a life of national isolation.

"Senator Harding has done much in the past two weeks to injure his own cause. His flip-flop policy on the league alone illustrates that he is not fit, not only to become the chief executive of this nation, but even to lead his own party in helping to solve the great problems which now confront us."

RESTAURANT MEN CALLED TO CONFER ON HIGH PRICES

BOSTON, Mass.—Restaurant keepers of the state responded Monday to the invitation of United States Attorney Daniel J. Gallagher to confer with him on complaints that they have been exacting excessive prices for food.

Items which he thought required an explanation included alleged profits running to 1000 per cent on vegetables, the sale of corn at 40

FARM COUNCIL ASKS GOVERNMENT TO LOAN MONEY TO FARMERS

Director Asks that U. S. Borrow Money to Loan to Agriculturists

WASHINGTON.—Declaring that "someone must finance this year's crops, George P. Hampton, managing director of the Farmers' National council, today wrote the Federal Reserve board suggesting that in event the board definitely decided against making an effort to get its members to discount farm paper and warehouse receipts, the government borrow money and deposit it in national banks to be loaned to farmers at not more than one per cent in excess of the rate the government pays.

Farmers thus would be able, Mr. Hampton said, to hold at least a part of their crops until they can get cost of production plus a reasonable profit or until there is an effective consumption demand.

Either the primary producer or those who are seeking to get control of farm products and who are able to get credit from some source must finance the crop, the letter said.

"The man seeking to corner agricultural products will not reduce the prices at which they sell crops any longer than they have to," Mr. Hampton declared. "The laws of supply and demand will be unavailing in case these hoarders can obtain an embargo on importation of farm products in crude condition as it is intimidated they intend to do."

ADVISE JEWS TO TAKE UP COMPLAINTS WITH LEAGUE OF NATIONS

LONDON.—Jewish Telegraphic Agency—Earl Curzon, the foreign secretary, in a recent letter to the joint foreign committee of British Jewry, notified the committee that in the future all cases of ill-treatment of Jews should be taken up with the league of nations and not with the British foreign office.

Lucien Wolf, secretary of the joint committee, then took up with the league the question of the all-treatment of Jews in Poland but was informed that the league had no machinery to deal with such emergency cases. Mr. Wolf thereupon returned to the foreign office and asked Bagdad's protection for Jews.

Reasons for U. S. Membership in League Presented to Syracuse Audiences

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—Moral and political arguments for American membership in the league of nations were presented by Governor Cortis here today to two audiences, American and foreign.

The democratic presidential candidate declared that the cause rejection of a policy of isolationism.

He addressed a large audience at the theater and another at the local chamber of commerce.

Benefits which, he said, would flow from American participation in the league were emphasized by the governor.

"Don't develop the idea of isolation," he urged. "That's selfish and unholty. When we isolate ourselves commercially we also isolate ourselves."

Declaring that European markets were necessary to take American surplus products, and that only the league can restore European credit, Governor Cox said:

"In my judgment dollar wheat and a more widespread business recovery will come unless it is certain that we enter the league. The price of wheat is fixed by the law of supply and demand abroad.

"America's steel industry must continue prosperous in the up-building of Europe without the league, Gore-nor Cox stated, but he said that the league was essential to insure a market for other American products, especially those of the farm.

He urged repeal of the excess profits taxes.

WORKING SCHEMES ON GOD MUST STOP

DECLARES ROWLISON

Interesting Sermon Given in Series at the First Congregational Church

That working schemes on God is one of the greatest evils from which the world is suffering, was the declaration of Rev. C. C. Rowlison in the series of special sermons at the First Congregational church yesterday. His subject was "Working schemes on God." He said in part: "Working schemes on God must stop."

"We have stopped this sort of thing in regard to rain and famine and all in regard to disease. In doing this we have come to a far higher idea of the love and fatherhood of God. He sends rain upon the just and the unjust. He is a true father, not a capricious little worldling of a deity."

"So every man, every group, every nation must stop trying to work schemes on God morally and spiritually—that is economically and religiously. Man's desire must not be for special privilege, as capitalist or as laborer, but that the will of God be done through him. A family or a church must not work for special privilege, but that the will of God be done, for that is the only thing that counts. But that the only thing that counts is to do the will of God. They will be done on earth as it is in heaven."

"In the manner a nation or race must cease to consider itself having special favor with God, except the special favor such as the Savior of the world had of bearing the sins and burdens of the world. Justice for himself is the greatest American invention—and our heavy taxes to some large ones. He has of God inevitably curses a last like that. America has right to live only for the contribution she is capable of making to the total welfare of humanity. The words of our nation are perfectly clear about the consequences of so selfish a claim as many are now making."

"It is perfectly clear, therefore, that working schemes on God is one of the greatest evils from which the world is suffering. This necromancy and juggling with the laws of our planet always brings disaster. The tremendous chaos of the present is directly traceable to the ignorance and selfish blindness of the masses on the one hand, and the high expectations of working a scheme on God that have more hypnotized the imagination of the majority. Their house fell, but how terrible is its ruins."

"Let us see clearly today that political legislation must cease; that economic and social legislation must cease; that we must cease depending upon technological legislation."

"Righteousness and good will must take the place of ancient politics. 'Be not deceived. God is not mocked. Who ever a man sows, that shall also reap.' Our political and economic day-dream will only continue to blur upon the world. The proclamation of the gospel of love and good will and redemption is the true task of the church. Working religious schemes on God will have exactly the same results as will the political or economic forms of magic."

"This sleeping world must wake that God may shine upon it."

ENROLLMENT IN STATE HIGH SCHOOLS SHOWS TWO PER CENT GAIN

MADISON, Wis.—Nearly a 20 per cent increase in the state's high school enrollment is reported to the office of Superintendent C. P. Cary. Mr. Cary declares that this enrollment is the largest in the state's history. The increase, according to Mr. Cary, is due to several reasons, chief among them being that men who served in the war have realized that it was the educated man who forged ahead.

MAY ROBSON NEXT

IN FINE NEW PLAY

WEDNESDAY NIGHT

The success achieved by May Robson, the popular comedienne whom Augustus Pitou Inc., will present to the patrons of the La Crosse Theater on October 20 next, in her newest and from all accounts best play, "Nobody's Fool" which was written for her by the well known dramatic critic Alan Dale, stamps her the foremost comedienne on the American stage, for if report is true, it is without doubt the best endeavor of her career, and overshadowing her former triumphs in "Fish," "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary," "Martha by the Day," "A Little Bit Old Fashioned," and "The Making Over of Mrs. Day."

For a number of years, Mr. Dale, who has been an admirer of Miss Robson's work, has been anxious to furnish her with a play which would give her broader opportunity for displaying her remarkable versatility, but until last season, was never able to approach her on the subject, she preferring the dramatization of some well known book rather than an original comedy.

It was during her New York engagement that Mr. Dale after reviewing "Fish" secured an interview with Mr. Pitou and read the scenario of "Nobody's Fool," that the latter arranged for Miss Robson to read it with the result that the celebrated critic and author was commissioned to have it finished for a spring try-out.

The pencillers wherever the play has been produced have as a unit declared it to be the best work Miss Robson has ever done, and predict

AT THE THEATERS TODAY
Rivoli—William S. Hart in "The Cradle of Courage."
Majestic—Marguerite Clark in "Easy to Get."
Majestic—Dorothy Dalton in "The Dark Mirror."
Casino—Dorothy Phillips in "Hell Morgan's Girl."
Strand—Emmy Wehlen in "Lifting Shadows."
Bijou—Charles Ray in "Homer Comes Home."

RIVOLI
Appearing to excellent advantage in his latest Paramount production, William S. Hart achieved an emphatic success in "The Cradle of Courage" at the Rivoli yesterday. The big audiences that greeted the picture yesterday did not hesitate to show their approval of the star and the picture, which is one of the best seen here in many moons. It is a different sort of picture than the usual run and a new role for our hero.

Mr. Hart has the role of "Square" Kelly, a safe cracker of San Francisco, who was reformed after two years' service with the American troops in "the cradle of courage" in France. He becomes a policeman on his return from France and brings his former partners in crime to justice and wins the love of a pretty girl. The story is very dramatic and the theme is appealing, so there is not a dull moment throughout the development of the story.

The support is strong in every respect. Ann Little, a favorite of the films, plays opposite the star, her work is sympathetic and forceful. Tom Santschi as Tierney, a gang leader, is a real character. The rest of the cast is very capable.

"A Tramp With a Trouble," a monkey comedy, was the laughter of the bill. The antics of this monkey seem to be human. His actions, brought down the house time and time again.

RIVIERA
The Riviera, the new picture palace on the north side, opened yesterday to packed houses. At 2:30, the Obrecht Sisters' orchestra offered the overture, "Light Cavalry," by Suppe. The orchestra plays nicely together and received a great ovation.

Dainty Helen Louise Stewart offered her interpretation of "The Garden Dance," as taught to her by Mr. Danvers. Helen Louise, although in tender years, has the grace and ease of a professional. She was called and recalled, and responded with a Russian dance.

"Dynamic" with Lloyd Hamilton, was the comedy. This comedy was rightly named, as it was full of "punch," excitement and numerous explosions. Charles Ray, in "Homer Comes Home," was the feature attraction of the evening. Mr. Ray assumes the role of a country youth who goes to a big city and gets a job, then comes back to the old town to startle the natives. Charlie hasn't anything to startle them with only some duffy clothes and unusual supply of nerve. He succeeds in a manner that sent the audiences yesterday into peals of laughter and provided a delightful entertainment.

The policy of the new house is to change every day, so tomorrow they will offer Marguerite Clark in "Easy to Get," a tale of a bride who said "I do," then suddenly vowed she wouldn't.

CASINO
Dorothy Phillips, in "Hell Morgan's Girl," opened yesterday at the Casino. Miss Phillips, as the Alaskan dance hall queen, made a distinct hit. The story is a typical Alaskan story of the order of the "Spellers," in fact, it could be called a second "Spellers." There is plenty of excitement in this one to please those that like excitement, and pathos to please those that like human interest. The cast contains some well known favorites, and includes Lon Chaney and William Stowell. "The fight in the picture between these two men will go down in film history as one of the greatest and best."

BIJOU
To give a chance to people who were unable to see Charles Ray in "Homer Comes Home," at the Riviera yesterday, it will be shown at the Bijou today and tomorrow. On the same program will be offered a two reel comedy, Hank Mann in "The Paper Hanger."

STRAND
The Strand will offer today Emmy Whelen in "Lifting Shadows." This picture played the Majestic a couple of weeks ago and was reviewed in these columns.

MAJESTIC
"The Dark Mirror," starring Dorothy Dalton, which is playing for the last time tonight, is a story of two worlds. New York society and the slums of Chinatown. Miss Dalton has a dual role that offers her unusual opportunities to display her emotional talents and her extraordinary versatility.

Her skillful performance in the two roles of Priscilla and the gangster's girl is remarkable for the natural manner in which she differentiates the characters. Huntly Gordon does good work as Dr. Fosdick. The story is by Louis Joseph Vance.

Tomorrow, and for the balance of the week Mae Murray and David Powell in "On With the Dance," a spectacular production of gay life in New York.

Difficult to Keep Your Hair Wavy? Read This

If you have not yet tried the new way, the silmerine way, by all means do so. You'll never again use the ruinous heated iron. The curls will appear so perfectly natural and the hair will be so beautifully lustrous, instead of dried and parched. Thus liquid silmerine serves also as a beneficial dressing for the hair. It is neither sticky nor greasy, but quite pleasant to use. It should be applied with a clean tooth brush before putting up the hair, drawing the brush through the hair from root to tip.
The hair will have the loveliest curls and waves imaginable in three hours, and it will be easy to manage, no matter how you do it up. A few ounces of the liquid from your druggist will last a long time.

GREAT!

NEW CLUES FOUND BY INVESTIGATORS IN SAILSTAD CASE

Bones Planted in Burned Cottage Believed to Have Come from Wascott Cemetery

MISSING STENOGRAPHER PAWNED JEWELS IS REPORT

Messenger Identifies Portrait of "Sunshine Girl"

SUPERIOR, Wis.—Deputy Coroner William M. Downs will go to Wascott Monday morning and make careful search of the graveyard there in an effort to learn where Edward P. Sailstad, Kean Claire manufacturer, is believed to have secured the human bones he planted in his bungalow at Lake Nebagamon before he is alleged to have disappeared on August 26, with Miss Dorothy Anderson, his stenographer.

In a report to Deputy Downs on Saturday Henry Meyers of Wascott asserted the opinion that Sailstad may have exhumed some bones from the local cemetery. When they learn where the human remains found in the ruins of the bungalow came from, the Douglas county authorities will be confronted with but one problem, that of finding the "missing" man and his stenographer.

Acting chief A. G. Fiskett of the Duluth police department, stated on Sunday that he was positive Sailstad had left Duluth.

Traces are Few

"We are combing the town for the man, but we can get no trace of his movements after August 28," said Captain Fiskett. "Three or four people had seen them, but not since that date."

"They may have gone through Canada on the way to the sea. I have given pictures of them to all railroad and steamship officials. They have a long start on us, you know."

According to deputy state fire marshal, Charles Good, Sailstad had in his pocketbook when he disappeared, about $4,000. He will investigate a new clue that reached him on Sunday when Miss Theresa McGee, a messenger girl for the Western Union Telegraph company, told him that on the second day after the fire she had been called to a local hotel by a woman. The woman gave her a package, she said, and instructed her to carry it to Marcus & Co., a loan bank. The girl said that the package contained jewelry and that the clerk gave her some money in an envelope to return to the woman in the hotel.

Identified Photo

"I am positive that woman was Miss Anderson," said the messenger. She made that statement after viewing the "Sunshine Girl's" picture.

Mrs. Leonie Sailstad, wife of the missing man, continues in her belief that her husband perished in the fire and that the insurance companies will be forced to pay her the $60,000 insurance he carried.

VOTE AS AMERICANS COX ADVISE IN TALK TODAY AT SYRACUSE

Americanization But Another Word for Construction Declares Candidate

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—Governor Cox Monday opened his second eastern campaign with an address here to first voters, urging them to disregard partisanship and to vote as Americans.

"Americanization," said the democratic presidential candidate, "is but another word for construction. Americanization is not selfishness. It means that we love this freedom of America that wherever in the whole world the name of America is mentioned it shall mean honor, loyalty, progress, humanity and peace. To shout 'America first' and then oppose making America first throughout the world is to turn our backs on progress and on the ideals which the framers of our great constitution wove into the soul of America."

"Therefore when I talk of the league of nations, I am presenting no new spirit but am simply endeavoring to keep the faith of America."

"There can be nothing more reassuring than that this great army of first voters composed of millions of young men will approach the ballot box this fall with the same patriotism with which they stood in the front trenches."

"I find that the young men and the mothers will insist that we become a part of the league of nations."

Governor Cox's program today called for his spending the morning here, an afternoon address at Rochester and a night meeting at Buffalo.

SPARTA OLD FOLKS PAID HONORS AT METHODIST SERVICE

Some Improvements Made in Lighting Situation; Lieut. Enckhausen is Married

SPARTA, Wis.—Sunday morning a special service was held in the Methodist church for the old folks of the church. The organ music and professional were old favorite hymns. The choir rendered an anthem by Kirkpatrick "For Me There are No Shadows," and Rev. and Mrs. E. E. Horth sang a soprano and tenor duet, "Jesus, Savior, Pilot Me." Pontius, "The sermon topic was 'How Old Are You?'"

This service for the aged, followed up the dinner and entertainment for the old folks given in the church parlors Friday afternoon by the Ladies Aid society. Seventy-five attended the dinner.

Some improvements have been made the past week in the city lighting situation. Since the power plant burned at Angelo some few weeks ago, the city has been in darkness, as far as street lights were concerned, and power for store lights has been furnished largely by private installing of motors. Wednesday night connections were made with the Angelo power plant of the Wisconsin-Minnesota Light and Power company, which about doubled the electric current. A new generator was installed at Angelo, which was shipped here from Chippewa Falls and with the water wheel will help to relieve the situation in the lack of power, and part of the street lights have since been used. A couple of days, the past week, the Sparta plant was shut down, on account of the scarcity of water, and what power there was had to be saved for the lights, much to the inconvenience of the power users.

A shower is being planned for the Morrow Memorial Home for the Aged, to be held October 20, from 9 in the morning until 5 in the afternoon. Donations of potatoes, meat, vegetables, apples, canned fruit, jells, etc., will be very acceptable, also gifts of table linen, napkins, towels and the like will be gratefully received.

Announcements have been received in the city of the marriage of Lieutenant Frederick Harry Enckhausen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Enckhausen, and Miss Vera Sharkey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sharkey, which took place at the home of the bride in Laredo, Texas. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Anita Sharkey. The best man was Lieutenant William J. Morony. Mr. and Mrs. Enckhausen went to San Antonio, Texas, for a short stay, after which they will return to Laredo, to await orders to proceed to Michigan, where the lieutenant will be stationed.

Hutchinson, social chairman of the Normal school faculty was in charge. The Normal band made its first public appearance at the game Saturday.

Eugene Crider has been appointed cheer leader in place of "Shorty" Kline, who resigned. Crider has chosen Tom Farley and Orville Osmundson as his assistants.

The Sociedad Hispanica held its first meeting last week. The meeting was in charge of Ed Scheibe, temporary chairman. The officers elected for the coming year are: Marian Chatham, president; Ed Scheibe, vice president; Florence Worth, secretary and treasurer. Plans were made to hold an informal reception, for new members on October 23.

At a joint meeting of the Men's and Women's leagues held in the auditorium last Thursday morning ideas were discussed relative to student self-government. The majority seemed in favor of some form of the honor system which is in vogue at nearly all larger schools. The meeting was adjourned before the point was decided but it will be taken up again soon.

At the first meeting of the Gibbons club, the following were chosen as chairmen of the various activities: Marie Guenther, publicity; Nell McNamara, program; Kathryn Lyons, censorship; Patricia Baranowski, executive; Pauline Heinen, social. The next meeting of the club will be a reception for the new members.

A triangular contest has been arranged between the three literary societies of the school, the first of the series to be held December 6. The societies interested are the Men's Debating society, and the Forum and Saphonian Girls' Literary societies. The Y. M. C. A. is again in charge of issuing the student directory. The committee consists of Walter Belsem, chairman; Gayle Kleiser and Harry Nutting.

13 Eggs A Day From 17 Young Pullets

Mrs. Niles Starts 6-months Old Pullets Laying. Tells How.

"Early in November, I bought a package of Don Sung and started giving it to 17 May pullets. In the first 20 days they laid 125 lovely eggs. All through the winter I got 12 to 13 eggs a day. I am now getting 13 eggs a day from 17 young pullets. I have found that to start young pullets laying and keep them laying all winter. The same method helps hens through the moult and starts them laying. You can test this at our risk. Give your best Don Sung and watch a miracle for one month. If you don't find it pays for itself, and pays you a new profit besides, simply tell us and your money will be cheerfully refunded."

Don Sung (Chinese for egg-laying) is a scientific tonic and conditioner. It is given in the feed, improves the hen's health and makes her stronger and more active. It causes the egg-laying organs and sets the eggs, no matter how cold a wet weather.

Be there---it is important

Why you must wash your face every day

BECAUSE the network of tiny pores and minute glands, which constitutes what we call the skin, must be cleansed thoroughly every day. Otherwise they clog with dirt, dust and oil secretions. Then you soon have blackheads and pimples.

Wash away these poisonous secretions every day with the mild, soothing lather of Palmolive. This freshens the complexion and allows the skin to breathe.

Result, a clear complexion, a smooth complexion, a fresh, rosy complexion, a complexion blooming with the beauty of health.

(If your skin is very dry, apply a little Palmolive Cold Cream before washing. This will keep it smooth and flexible.)

THE PALMOLIVE COMPANY, MILWAUKEE, U. S. A.

PALMOLIVE

Be sure to use Palmolive

Its ingredients are the mildest, most soothing of natural cleansers. The use of Palm and Olive oils was discovered 3,000 years ago in ancient Egypt. They produce a wonderful profuse lather, mild and rich as cream.

Massage this creamy lather lightly into your skin with your two hands. Then dash on the rinsing water. Finish with Palmolive Cold Cream.

Do this thorough cleansing just before bedtime and you will wake with a becomingly fresh complexion.
